How We Do It: The Iris Innovation Platform™

The Iris Innovation Platform™ is our breakthrough set of configurable technology and business components that lets us configure and deliver our solutions faster than otherwise possible.

Iris Innovation Platform benefits:

- Rapid assembly of solutions from an inventory of pre-built business and technology components that are common across all financial services applications.
- Ability to focus on the important part of your solution - the final, highly configurable layer that lets us capitalize on the sweet spot of your business, the part that makes your firm unique.
- Time spent on high-value customization and configuration to solve business problems - not on low-value coding.
- Transfer of the technology to your firm, so that you can update and evolve your Iris configurable application to keep pace with the changes in your business for many years to come.

Tailored to the Unique Needs of Alternative Investment Firms

We understand the specialized needs and demands of alternative investment managers – hedge funds are inherently lean and nimble – you put your resources into the business of making money, not managing IT. Iris Hedge Fund Manager gives you the tools you need to be ultimately profitable, without requiring you to spend precious time trying to force an application to fit your investment style.

Iris Hedge Fund Manager allows you to have less IT, not more.

Solution Capabilities

- Real-time position keeping
- Corporate actions management
- Real-time P/L
- On-demand portfolio risk analysis
- Portfolio optimization and trade list generation
- Trade list slicing-and-dicing
- Order execution
- Limit order management
- Auto-traders and fill processing
- Automated daily reconciliation of positions and transactions

A New Breed of Solution: The Iris Configurable Application

Like all Iris products, Iris Hedge Fund Manager is highly configurable and adaptable, meeting our customers' unique business needs today, yet extensible so that our customers can quickly and easily change the application as new business opportunities arise.

Planning for the Future

We will enhance Iris Hedge Fund Manager over time with new releases planned twice annually. In subsequent releases, we will extend functionality for all currently supported instruments, including additional operational features. We will incorporate more derivative capabilities in later releases. Should customer demand or priorities change, these plans may be altered to deliver particularly important features earlier in the development cycle.
